This is just the beginning, use Next.js to build it! It's not finished, but I want to make something like a dynamic book that helps you to code daily, I think it's really useful, especially for some commands you do every day that you don't remember sometimes or from which you sometimes have too much to teach at the moment

My CV online 🔗 cv.jonaskabalo.com
This is just my online resume, but I guess it's not bad to have one for the public on the web, and this version has more skills explained and looks better than 'a normal pdf document :p
